Ann Furedi's arguments are chilling, yet they will resonate with contemporary God-rejecting society. The first task for Christians is to make sure that Christians understand just why these arguments are wrong, because, as with other current societal arguments, Christians with weak Biblical knowledge and faint commitment to obedience to Jesus will be tempted to follow human "wisdom".

In the philosophy of mind, mind-body dualism denotes either the view that mental phenomena are non-physical, or that the mind and body are distinct and separable. Thus, it encompasses a set of views about the relationship between mind and matter, as well as between subject and object, and is contrasted with other positions, such as physicalism and enactivism, in the mind-body problem.
